

Blog Update 4 ~ Friday 7th February 2014

This week we all didn't get to have a meeting because of all the playtime duties and lunch times. We are all really sorry that we can't do better than this...

This week we have had a little meeting with one ks2 knight and a couple of younger ones in year one. We have been looking at the same ideas as last week like the colourful collages, and pretty posters. The little ones had a lot to say and they really did well with that little secret meeting.

Thanks for listening. See you next week!

All the Right Knights.
